Meeting #6, Monday March 28, 2011

For our sixth meeting member Don Larson (partner/president Newbound, Inc.) presented and demonstrated Generating an iOS WebApp using Apple's Dashcode.

Don did a fine job showing us how this unique and powerful development tool makes it easy to create interesting and non-trivial iOS WebApps with no coding at all! This tool allows you to create WebApps for multiple targets at once (including Safari for PC/Mac and Mobile Safari for iPad/iPhone/iPod touch). Although code can be directly created and edited inside Dashcode, complete projects can be produced by simply clicking/dragging elements and filling out some forms. Finished WebApps can be published to a web server or packaged as native apps to be released in the Apple App Store.

We had another full room in attendance - and all were energetically engaged with questions, answers and added insights scattered throughout. Almost half the group also attended the dinner after the meeting with lively conversations lasted until 11:30 PM when we all finally headed home.
